Please note the information below regarding the current situation at the various Transnet Container Terminals.

Cape Town

High swells have impacted port operations, and all vessels have been advised to be ready to sail in an emergency. All lashings on containers and hatch covers must be in place.

In addition, performance at the Cape Town Container Terminal has declined recently. Their management has become involved and while the situation is improving, service is not yet at the required level.

Durban

Levels of absenteeism are unacceptably high, in addition to which there have been multiple equipment failures, all of which are contributing to lower than acceptable service levels.

Coega

The port is still experiencing delays due to the go-slow, which is being compounded by IT issues.

We thank you for your continued support and partnership
