Severe Weather Warning

As our clients in Durban will know, we are currently being warned of imminent severe weather conditions. Torrential rains are expected and wind speeds are due to reach around 27km / hour. To give you an idea, the port usually becomes wind bound when the wind speed reaches around 20km.

These conditions are not expected to improve significantly until the weekend but management at the port do ensure that the situation is under constant review.

In addition to this, Cape Town Port has been intermittently wind bound for the last 72 hours.

Unfortunately this is going to compound the existing delays that we are experiencing at the port,. We are working with our transporters to ensure that all delays are minimised and we will keep affected customers updated constantly.

Should you have any questions please don't hesitate to contact our team at any time.

We thank you for your continued support and partnership
