COVID-19 Air Freight Situation

Please see below our update relative to airfreight cargo movements both inbound and outbound. The market remains exceptionally volatile with changes being effected on a daily basis. We can report that there are still no passenger services inbound or outbound and cargo is only able to move on limited freighter services only.

It is important to note that all Airlines (without exception) are not quoting on any shipments, to secure a price cargo must be a live shipment and confirmation will be accepted by the airline the minute we request rates for the booking (please make sure that we have cargo on hand). Please also be aware that only essential cargo can be collected from the airline or booked on new inbound or outbound flight, if deemed "essential" and supported by all the necessary registrations and permits as stipulated in our previous updates.
