COVID-19 Update: Situation at Cape Town Port

Please note the below just in from SAAFF relative to problems in the port of Cape Town:

“We have been advised that the Port has been closed and the security are turning away all trucks. From what has been gathered, the Port workers are insisting that all equipment and machinery be sanitized. There are now concerns about workers who have been tested positive but not yet been confirmed. An official notice has not been received from the Port but this information has been received from truckers trying to get into the Port this morning 14 April 2020. On receipt of any further information this will be communicated in due course.”

We will keep you updated as the matter is clarified and hopefully resolved.
